

E-learning FOR BUSINESS 09

Including the launch of the 2009 national E-learning Benchmarking Survey results

The changing global economic outlook is forcing business and industry to become more resourceful and efficient in staff training and retraining.

E-learning for business 09 will showcase how e-learning is providing cost-effective and flexible training options for vocational education and training (VET) practitioners, training providers, CEOs, policy makers, business and industry.

- Find out how e-learning can save you time and money.
- See the latest e-learning products, resources and technologies.
- Attend the launch of the 2009 national E-learning Benchmarking Survey results and see how your organisation's e-learning activities compare nationwide.

Session information:

Session one - E-learning in action

See demonstrations of key e-learning products and resources, including Flexible Learning Toolboxes; LORN; e-portfolios; ARED and the QTImPlayer.

Session two - VET e-learning hypothetical

A range of VET professionals from public and private training providers, business, industry and government will discuss the hypothetical question – Does e-learning work in real life?

Launch of 2009 national E-learning Benchmarking Survey results

The national E-learning Benchmarking Survey is the trusted indicator of e-learning uptake, use and impact in VET. The results show the attitudes of VET training providers, teachers/trainers and learners towards e-learning in education and training.
